WEEKLY BULLETIN

LIME Spending $670m for further Mobile Network Expansion

- Cable & Wireless Jamaica Limited (LIME) has advised that the company is spending close to $670 million for its financial year (2009/ 2010) to expand its mobile network and further improve coverage across the island . The expansion programme will include the commissioning of 70 new cell sites across Jamaica`s 12 rural parishes.

The project is geared at boosting overall coverage and capacity while providing coverage in several remote areas where service was previously not available. LIME`s customers will also experience improved overall service quality as several existing cell sites will be bolstered to accommodate additional call traffic.

The multi-million dollar spend continues LIME`s trend of investing in its wireless infrastructure as last year the company spent more than $3 billion on its mobile network.

The new sites will become operational on a phased basis between October 2009 and March 2010.

The aggressive build out is being facilitated, in part, by a tower sharing agreement which LIME brokered with Claro in July of this year . The landmark deal is allowing LIME to increase the reach of its mobile network in a more cost effective manner and also to reduce the impact on Jamaica`s natural environment caused by new tower construction.
