C2W Music Ltd. – Fourth Songwriting Camp Held In Nevis

C2W Music Ltd., the Caribbean's first publicly-listed and traded Intellectual Property company, is pleased to announce the completion of its fourth songwriting camp, on the beautiful Island of Nevis. In attendance were twelve (12) world-class songwriters, including 2 C2W songwriters, Candy Gloster and Mark Cyrus. Accompanying the songwriters were Maria Eagan, Senior Vice President of A&R for Columbia Records, and C2W's CEO, Ivan Berry. In a one-week series of collaborations throughout 4 mobile recording studios, the songwriters have written 23 songs in the pop genre. The Nevis camp was another ground-breaking event, as it was specifically organized in conjunction with Columbia Records USA to write songs for Rachel Crow of The X Factor fame, and Amber Riley, one of the lead cast member of the TV series Glee.

The Nevis camp provided C2W with a particularly exciting model of writing for specific artists and TV shows, which enhances the likelihood of songs out of the camp being cut and recorded by Internationally renowned recording artists. The model works and proves that Caribbean songwriters are talented enough to play on the Global stage, once having the right contacts and networks to major recording labels, artists, manager, producers, songwriters, TV and film music supervisors, on an International level.

C2W has begun to organize its next Caribbean songwriting camp for the month of June and expects to continue to bring the World's best talent to the Caribbean on a monthly basis.

C2W is as well pleased to announce that, as of the completion of the Nevis camp, the company now has intellectual property ownership in over 200 songs, well ahead of Business Plan projections.
